

Dear Colby and Tobiason workers,

It's Zach Avery, I was one of the two Hartford Students who worked with you on April 7th for my school's Job Shadow day. I was the birthday kid that was supposed to carry the plaster, but didn't carry anything. Ha! Thanks for the cupcakes, I really appreciated it. You guys, and Lee. You guys were fun to hang out with for the day, and I thought how your relationships as workmates was fun because you could joke around, and it was a great time.

It was a good ~~exper~~ experience, and it was better than I thought it would be. I didn't think I was going to have fun, but I did. I wish we could have finished the wall because I hate not finishing a job. If I get the chance, I will call you guys up and see if I can volunteer or work for you guys sometime. Thanks for having me, though.

Sincerely,

Zach Avery
